Legion Begins Move to Promote American Education Week From Dec. 4 to 10 All Over United States

Civic and Commercial Clubs Join in Drive, and Presidents, Governors and Mayors Are Asked to Assist

Patriotic, civic, commercial and educational organizations throughout the United States have been invited by the National Headquarters of the American Legion to co-operate with the National Education Association in conducting an "American Education Week" from December 4 to 10. The Legion has pledged its support, and posts in this and other cities are working to promote the enterprise.

President Harding, the governors of several states and the mayors of a number of cities have been requested to issue a proclamation setting aside this week for educational purposes. The purpose of the week will be to arouse America to a fuller appreciation of the value of education for the making of better citizens and more abiding interest in the children of America.

Churches, chambers of commerce and luncheon clubs, as well as fraternal organizations, are supporting the movement and will conduct a series of activities. The American Legion is the only organization that has been requested to co-operate in fostering true Americanism in all the schools. The association granted the request and arrangements were made for American Education Week. The National Education Association issued this statement as adopted in resolutions:

"The National Education Association welcomes most heartily and accepts with great appreciation the offer of the American Legion to co-operate with the National Education Association in securing for America a program of education adequate to meet the needs of the twentieth century and which will give every boy and every girl that equipment in education and training which is his right under our democratic government and which will make of all, whether native or foreign born, good American citizens. To the accomplishment of these ends, be it

Resolved, That all teachers in America, exchange teachers and professors excepted, should be American citizens and should be required to take an oath of allegiance to the government of the United States.

"That no one should be permitted to teach in any school in America who has less than a standard high school education of four years, with not less than two additional years of professional training.

"That the English language should be the only basic language of instruction in all public, private and parochial elementary and high schools.

"That adequate instruction should be required in American history and civics for graduation from both the elementary and high schools.

"That the American flag should be displayed by every school during school hours and that patriotic exercises should be conducted regularly in all schools, and, further, that the American Legion be invited to furnish speakers from time to time at these and other exercises of the schools.

"That school attendance should be made compulsory throughout the United States for a minimum of three to six weeks annually to the end of the high school period, or to the age of eighteen.

"That an educational week should be observed in all communities annually for the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure the co-operation and support of the public in meeting these needs.

"That the Representative Assembly of the National Education Association authorize the appointment of a standing committee to co-operate with the American Legion throughout the year for the purpose of carrying into effect the program outlined above."

Heirs May Compromise
Rumored Hanna's Sons Will Settle Claim of Miss Evans
Special Dispatch to The Tribune

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—It was rumored here to-day that the sons of the late Daniel Rhodes Hanna, publisher, of Cleveland, who are the executors of his estate, may make a settlement with June Avis Evans, who is contesting the will. The name of Miss Evans appears as a beneficiary in one of the numerous marginal notes of the will, which, it is alleged, was ordered to be locked up in the county safe. The Surrogate's action was taken after he saw the manner in which Mr. Hanna had canceled marginal notes on the testament. Several attorneys from Cleveland have sent for certified copies of the will. Whom they represent was not made known.

First Commercial Aviation Report Is Published by Navy

Twenty Machines of Various Types Carried 6,814 Passengers 95,020 Miles in Air Without Mishap

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The first annual report on commercial aviation has been received by Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, of the Navy Department, chief of the bureau of aeronautics. The report was made public to-day by the Navy Department. Operations were in the United States and the report was forwarded by C. F. Reed, president of the Aeromarine Airways. It contains interesting information covering the service of the Aeromarine navy flying boats in transportation of passengers, mail and freight for the year ended October 27, 1921.

The report states that six eleven-passenger cruisers of the FSL type carried 1,044 passengers 42,000 miles in the air and transported 24,002 pounds of mail and 5,000 pounds of freight and baggage, exclusive of crews. Six navy coast patrol six-passenger boats of the HSL type carried 4,762 passengers 34,320 miles in the air, exclusive of crews. Three Aeromarine three-place flying boats carried 1,008 passengers 18,100 miles, exclusive of pilots. No passenger or employee was injured during these operations.

Schedule Well Maintained
The schedule was maintained throughout with the exception of four forced landings during adverse weather conditions. The flying boat Nina was torn from her moorings one night in Havana Harbor during a terrific gale, blown against rocks and damaged beyond repair. No one was aboard at the time. The services maintained included Key West-Havana, Florida-Bahama Islands, New York, Atlantic City and New England ports, New York-Boston, New York-Albany, Lakes region and Mississippi River Valley.

The eleven passenger navy FSL flying boats operated in the Key West-Havana service during the winter, after which four of them were laid up for the summer. The remaining boat, the Santa Maria, then undertook a flight from Key West up the Atlantic coast to New York, up the Hudson River, over Lakes George and Champlain to Montreal, along the Great Lakes to Chicago and thence by way of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans, thence along the Gulf to Key West, a total distance of 7,000 miles.

Great Lakes Circumnavigated
Of the six S2 air boats four were in constant operation and two were in reserve. One of these boats made a complete circumnavigation of the Great Lakes, flying 7,491 miles and carrying 500 passengers; another covered the New England states.

For the coming year six of the Aeromarine navy eleven passenger flying cruisers will be placed in operation on the Key West-Havana route and between Palm Beach and Miami and Bimini and Nassau. Two other flying cruisers of the same type will be held in reserve for special chartered parties. For the other services seven of the six passenger Aeromarine navy HSL type will be placed in active operation and ten others will be held in reserve for special charters. Three of the Aeromarine three-place flying boats will be used for special service and special charters, with two of these same types held in reserve. It is expected that several new routes will be opened on the Great Lakes.

$500 Reward for Stolen Goods
A reward of $500 has been offered by the United States Trucking Corporation for recovery of five cases of tobacco and one case of linen which were stolen several weeks ago from one of its trucks at Eighteenth Street and the North River. The goods were consigned to R. H. Macy & Co.

Woman Clad in Raincoat Appeals to Court for Aid

Tells Magistrate Husband Evicted Her Without Clothes; Man Is Placed in Jail

Mrs. Hilda Cassidy, twenty-three years old, of appealing personality, appeared before Magistrate Hatting in Washington Heights court yesterday wearing a man's raincoat, which she clutched tightly in front with both hands and breathlessly informed the magistrate she had nothing else on.

Thomas Cassidy, her husband, she charged, had thrown her out of their home, 1439 Amsterdam Avenue. The only article of clothing she had been able to grab was the raincoat. Mrs. Cassidy said she was very cold and would Magistrate Hatting issue a warrant for Cassidy, so that she might go home and get some clothes.

When the magistrate asked for details Mrs. Cassidy qualified her first assertion. She said that, figuratively speaking, she had been evicted without clothes. Actually she had on one garment under the raincoat and that was positively all.

"You know, your honor," she said, "that isn't much after all."

Magistrate Hatting issued a warrant for Cassidy, who was locked up charged with disorderly conduct.

Fire Near Hotel Arouses Guests

"What shall we have for dinner?"

Let the Tribune Institute help you solve the ever perplexing question—what shall we have for dinner?

Every Sunday there is published on The Institute pages of the New York Tribune menus for all the meals of the week. These menus are prepared by a domestic scientist of long experience who puts the results of her work in The Institute Kitchen in a weekly article for Tribune readers.

Besides the menus special recipes for seasonable dishes are given. Also a marketing list is included, showing what the table-supplies for the week cost in the open market.

Even more important than the expert advice The Institute gives on menus is the work done in testing food products. On the tested food side the chemist and the domestic scientist tell in the Sunday Tribune about their work in the laboratory and kitchen.

The chemist is a man of national reputation who has helped safeguard a state's food for years. The chemical examinations are supplemented by carefully controlled practical investigations in the kitchen of the food's edibility and the best way to prepare and serve it.

All food products that pass the chemist's and domestic scientist's rigid examinations are given The Institute's official indorsement and the manufacturer is permitted to put The Institute Seal on his product or package.

Besides the two pages of Institute news published in The Tribune every Sunday The Institute Staff is ready to help solve your household problems by mail, or telephone, or personal consultation.
